

Open your doors. Shut out the confusion.

Introducing OpenCounter Indy—simplified permitting, licensing and zoning for Indianapolis businesses.

This easy-to-use website takes the often baffling process of opening a business and simplifies it. Enter your data once and OpenCounter Indy tells you exactly what you need to do to open the doors of your business, what forms you need to file, estimates of permitting and licensing costs and how long the process is going to take. Say hello to transparent process and timelines. OpenCounter saves you time and effort – valuable resources you can be putting into your new business.

Get started today at Indianapolis.opencounter.com

Disclaimer: OpenCounter Indy cost and time estimates are not binding and should only be used for general informational purposes only.

Step-by-step interview process

OpenCounter Indy collects information one question at a time. Depending on the type of business you are opening, and how you answer, OpenCounter Indy determines other questions to ask. To you, it's just a series of questions. But behind this simple, responsive interface, OpenCounter Indy is determining what you need, how much it's going to cost and preparing your forms to file. It can even plot potential sites on an overhead map and, in a matter of seconds, verify if they are zoned correctly for your business.

Open day and night

Access OpenCounter Indy from home or the office, any time you wish. Unlike city government offices, OpenCounter Indy is open 24/7. Get started at the time that best fits your schedule – instead of changing your schedule to fit the permitting, licensing and zoning process. Best of all, OpenCounter Indy makes the registration process fast. Now, something that used to take hours only takes minutes.

To get started, visit Indianapolis.opencounter.com.

